These selected paragraphs distill the contents and give you a quick look inside Totem and Taboo - Resemblances Between the Psychic Lives of Savages and Neurotics: Look inside the book: That means that a man calls not only his begetter father but also every other man who, according to the tribal regulations, might have married his mother and thus become his father; he calls mother not only the woman who bore him but also every other woman who might have become his mother without violation of the tribal laws; he calls brothers and sisters not only the children of his real parents, but also the children of all the persons named who stand in the parental group relation with him, and so on. ...The objects of the taboo are many: 1. direct taboos aim at (a) protection of important persons-chiefs, priests, etc.-and things against harm; (b) safeguarding of the weak-women children and common people generally-from the powerful mana (magical influence) of chiefs and priests; (c) providing against the dangers incurred by handling or coming in contact with corpses, by eating certain food, etc.; (d) guarding the chief acts of life-births, initiation, marriage and sexual functions-against interference; (e) securing human beings against the wrath or power of gods and spirits³⁴; (f) securing unborn infants and young children who stand in a specially sympathetic relation with their parents, from the consequence of certain actions, and more especially from the communication of qualities supposed to be derived from certain foods. About Sigmund Freud, the Author: Freud postulated the existence of libido (an energy with which mental process and structures are invested), developed therapeutic techniques such as the use of free association (in which patients report their thoughts without reservation and in whichever order they spontaneously occur), discovered transference (the process by which patients displace on to their analysts feelings based on their experience of earlier figures in their lives) and established its central role in the analytic process, and proposed that dreams help to preserve sleep by representing sensory stimuli as fulfilled wishes that would otherwise awake the dreamer. ...Both were invited to Vienna following the Salzburg Congress and a division of labour was agreed with Brill given the translation rights for Freuds works, and Jones, who was to take up a post at Toronto University later in the year, tasked with establishing a platform for Freudian ideas in North American academic and medical life.
