

This Thing Called Asher

Asher is a creature of evil unknown even to himself. This dark narrative reveals a personal perspective of his existence and the rotting world he inhabits. A tale of jealousy, torment, mutilation, longing, and ultimately loss as his obsession with the young Adeline seals her fate. The dull world is like a reflection, listless and lost. The mold of old thoughts flowering a new, then rotting into nothing. So, I live in my head. The unfortunate child of a sociopath, I create existence through lies. This story is an illustration of a time in my past. As an author, I am simply that.
