

Four Windows: Seattle (Part 4): Serialized stories of ghosts, fairies, revolutionaries, vampires, and magical artifacts in Seattle

Four Windows is a serial anthology for readers who enjoy their fiction in fun-sized portions. Each issue contains a part of four different novels each about Seattle which will be published in full at the end of the series. This is Part 4. Trace, by Ian Smith Joanne Shaughnessy needs a job, and bad which explains why in the course of 24 hours shes agreed to be a guinea pig for some New Age doctors experiments on the chi of amputees and to buy antiques (and just antiques, she hopes) for an eccentric Chinese woman who seems to think Joanne has supernatural powers. In Part 3, Joanne must confront the Glasseyes to save all she loves. NeuTraffic, by Andrew Gaines John Graham, Thought Commuter License 178, has a simple mission: deliver a message. In a near-future, post-revolution Seattle, he and the other underground messengers are the only tenuous threads that keep the fledgling New Cascadian Order from falling back into chaos. But when a warning strike from a neighboring Nation-State took out Seattles I-5 bridge, John Graham found himself stranded on the wrong side of the Ship Canal with an extremely important message to deliver. In Part 4, John and Eddie must cross the Downs to finish their mission. School of Sight, by Alisha A. Knaff There is a world that not everyone can see: a world of fairies and witches and shapeshifters and vampires that exists right alongside the boring, everyday life most people get to live in. When a young sibyl gets their first glimpse of that world, they find themselves questioning both their sanity and the very nature of reality as they have always known it. After all, isnt it crazier to believe in fairies than to simply be crazy? After a series of mysterious disappearances started plaguing the supernatural community, the sibyl stayed back, unsure how to get involved. Until, that is, a particularly strong vampire began to take an interest in the young sibyl, planting seeds of uncertainty that have been tough to uproot.

In Part 3, the young sibyl must step up to save the world. Shifting Borders, by Jessie Kwak When a resurrection goes awry in a cold Seattle cemetery, mother-of-three Patricia Ramos-Waites finds herself possessed by the ghost of her sisters dead lover. God forbid that her only problem be sharing her body with Dead Marco, however. Yesterday Patricias only worries were her teenage sons new deadbeat friends, and how she was going to put her kids through college; today shes become the target of a Central American drug-smuggling gang who desperately want to get their hands on the ghost shes hosting. But as Marco begins showing unsettling signs of strength, Valeria is becoming even more distant and in Part 3, Patricia and Marco must work together to save Valeria.
