

STARGATE SG-1: Do No Harm

Killing time Stargate Command is in crisis too many teams wounded, too many dead. Tensions are running high and, with the pressure to deliver tangible results never greater, General Hammond is forced to call in the Pentagon strike team to plug the holes. But help has its price. When the teams leader, Colonel Dave Dixon, arrives at Stargate Command he brings with him loyalties that tangle dangerously with a past Colonel Jack O'Neill would prefer to forget. Assigned as an observer on SG-1, hostility between the two men escalates as the teams vital mission to secure lucrative mining rights descends into a nightmare. Only Dr. Janet Fraiser can hope to save the lives of SG-1 that is, if Dave Dixon and Jack O'Neill don't kill each other first. DO NO HARM Daniel glared at Dixon, arms defiantly folded. I don't care what Fraiser said. Fraiser's not here, and she's not my superior officer. You're not my superior officer either, Dave. I'm telling you, flat out, we are not leaving that poor girl alone out there overnight while she's sick and suffering. Beyond the retreats open door the sun was setting, the Adjoan sky streaking from blue to pink. It'd be dark soon, and if he had to argue with Dixon till his tongue fell out he wasn't going to let some stupid medical protocol get in the way of doing what was right. Would you leave one of your men out there? he continued. No. So if you're suggesting Lotars somehow a second-class citizen because she's not from Earth then Whoah, whoah, settle down, said Dixon, a bite in his voice. Did I say that? What I said was that bringing another sick person in here could increase our chances, yours and mine, of catching whatever the hell it is that's going round. Because we're not sick yet and I'd like to keep it that way. Oh for crying out loud! he shouted. We're already exposed.
