

LostaFunMaps Santa Barbara

LotsaFunMaps Santa Barbara is a guide for visitors and residents to best places to go with family in Santa Barbara County. 140 entries cover Santa Barbara, Goleta, Montecito, Summerland, Carpinteria, Buellton, Solvang, Santa Ynez, Los Olivos, and Santa Maria, with emphasis on places that are free or inexpensive. Hidden playgrounds, beaches, short nature hikes, museums, boardwalks, bike paths, swimming holes, gardens, farms, unusual restaurants, and city hangouts are included. Each entry includes a detailed description on what is appealing and fun about each place, with photo, directions, hours, admission price, places to eat, other places nearby, and contact info. What sets this guide apart from others is that the author has personally spent time with kids in each destination in 2011 and you can tell! About the Author Caroline Bennet lives in Santa Barbara with her husband, 13 year-old son, and 4 year-old daughter. For the past ten years she has explored Santa Barbara. Since 2006, her travel website www.lotsafunmaps.com has received 1 million page views. She has a masters degree in ethnomusicology from University of California Santa Barbara, and works for UCSBs English Broadside Ballad Archive. Previously, she lived in Australia and Hawaii and was a regular contributor to Hawaii Parent Magazine. Reader Comments: What a beautiful spot, really heaven on earth!!! My son and I had an unforgettable day at the [Carpinteria] seal rookery and then at the beach. It was low tide and we splashed around for hours in the shallow pools. We are so lucky to have these protected bluffs to enjoy...The description of the trails and directions helped us plan our day. Many thanks. ---Martee and Liam This was a delightful day trip for my 3-year-old, 5-month-old, and me. We saw lots of other families with small children enjoying [Carpinteria seal rookery], too. The bluffs are a little nerve-racking if youve got kids who like to stand on the very edge, but further up the path where the docents are, there are rope boundaries. It was really cool to see so many seals in one place! Thanks for the great description and info. ---Katrinal was so excited to see [the entry on Restoration Oaks Blueberry Farm]. My husband and I took a two week RV trip to California last year and stumbled on this blueberry farm. It was such a fun time and the BEST blueberries ever. I had forgotten where this was and am so happy I now know. We are planning a trip to Emma Woods soon and will be sure to add this to our stop. Thanks again! ---AprilThis is absolutely the coolest [guide]: exactly the information I was looking for about planning a walk through the stretch of land to Devereux Slough. The Coal Oil Point text, directions, info and photo- all so wonderfully done. And, I enjoyed the comments from others. Yippee! ---SallyWhat a beautiful little place to stop at. My daughter and I added it to a trip to Cambria. We stopped by Solvang for lunch and then took Alisal Road to Nojoqui Falls instead of going back to the freeway. I HIGHLY suggest this route, as it was gorgeous. I felt like we were in a fairytale forest! The hike was fairly easy and we had a wonderful time! ---Mary W.
