

The New Fear

In the previous volumes of Brian Keenes critically-acclaimed non-fiction series, the author faced off against fellow writers, unscrupulous editors, corrupt politicians, scandalous C.E.O.s, organized religion, professional sports, the entertainment and publishing industries, crazed fans, egocentric celebrities, corporate America, and even God. But now, Keene must do battle with his greatest enemy. Himself. This third volume, which collects more of the best of Hail Saten, offers a fascinating look inside the mind of one of the horror genres brightest new talents-and a horrifying glimpse of what happens when that same mind declares war on itself. It also includes fan favorites such as the Adam Senft saga, publishing with beautiful nudes, the horrors of insta-broil, and for the first time anywhere, the original draft of Keenes C.I.A. essay (which was unpublished at the request of the U.S. government). The only thing we have to fear is ourselves.
