

A Collapse to a Fresh Start

This is a story of two young people who make their way out of Chicago and run to a very rural area of Colorado when they feel the United States is about to suffer an economic collapse and maybe change forever. The change both for them and in their country is a very large one indeed. This early story was published under the pen name of Jack Forester. I have gone through this story and found many of the errors and corrected them (no I'm sure I did not find them all!). I have re-written sections and added additional material as I have gone through this early work of mine.

As always in my stories there is no foul language or explicit sex though there is some violence. My stories are only meant to provide an afternoon or evening of reading enjoyment. If when reading any story you find that an occasional grammatical error spoils your whole experience then you may wish forgo reading this story as I am sure some errors can be found within it despite my best efforts.
