

The Race for Second

For college sophomore Ethan West, the upcoming fall semester will be the start of a year abroad in Germany that he's always dreamed of. Having broken up with his boyfriend the day before his flight, he's ready to face Europe with no attachments and no desire for any. But as Ethan gets to know Daniel one of his three German roommates his resolve starts to soften. Though Daniel is initially standoffish, unpleasant, and sometimes downright hostile, the two are undeniably drawn to one another. Even Ethan's conviction that Daniel is actually straight begins to erode as they grow closer, gradually revealing a buried part of Daniel's past that will threaten to tear them apart. Not to be outdone, the town of Freiburg guards its own secret, a thread of forgotten history unraveling into something far greater than Ethan is prepared for. The Race for Second is a coming of age story that delves into the depths of the young heart and its search for intimacy and acceptance. Charmingly woven into the German university town of Freiburg, Ethan's story is one of finding the courage to pursue what we truly desire, even at the risk of losing everything.
